1 --->I vote for the NO ACTION alternative. Too many risks will be taken by transporting the waste from its' original 77 sites. Too many risks will be taken by putting such an enormous load of waste into one place, whether it be Yucca Mountain or another. The risks will be from accidents, human error, geological activity, terrorists, and always - those that are totally unforeseen. The health and safety of our citizens, the vitality and purity of our lands, air and water should be the #1 priority of our government. Even storing such wastes on site violates these sacred rights and aspirations. But unfortunately, the wastes are with us and we have to live with them until technology solves the problem to OUR benefit. Do not compound this waste problem by moving it. Put money and brains into the research necessary to find the answer to disposal of nuclear waste. If we're bright enough to create it, we're bright enough to eradicate it. In the meantime, don't disturb it!
